

RAW EMOTIONS

Nelson H. Head

RAW EMOTIONS

Nelson H. Head

RAW EMOTIONS

Nelson H. Head

© 2015 by Nelson H. Head

All Photographs © Nelson H. Head

Published by Nelson H. Head

Notice of Rights

All Rights Reserved. No part of this book may be reproduced or transmitted in any form by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording, or otherwise, without the prior written permission of the author. For more information on obtaining such permission, contact the author at nelson.head@dixiebones.com.

The Blurb-provided layout designs and graphic elements are copyright Blurb Inc. This book was created using the Blurb creative publishing service. The book author retains sole copyright to his or her contributions to this book.

It had been a hard spring for Stewart. She had tried desperately to make her relationship with her fiancé work despite his leading her down paths she did not want to take. The end finally came when he gave her an ultimatum: Renounce and abandon her family or he would end the relationship.

She did not choose him.

She quit a professional job in Washington, took her possessions to a family home, and prepared to start over in South Florida where her mother was living. We met a few days before she departed. As we had done in the past, we simply talked things through. While she thought and spoke, I photographed the changing scene.

In her face that afternoon in late May were all of the feelings that had been building for weeks - joy, sorrow, resolve, fear, anger, exhaustion, resentment, disgust, relief, trepidation, questioning, and yes, glamour - a beautiful woman revealing her raw emotions.

Looking deeply into the photographs, you will also see that Stewart is strong and will be fine.

